

MS IN IT

The Department is pleased to announce its partnership with the Office of Information Technology and the Division of Graduate Studies & Continuing Education to offer a Masters of Science in Information Technology. This program is designed to meet the needs of U.S. and international students who wish to prepare for employment in growing Information Technology in the U.S., and equally important, abroad. The 37 credit program offers coverage of the fundamental areas of IT and provides depth in three emerging areas: computer & information security; platform technologies & networking; and, management of data. For more information about the program, visit the website www.valpo.edu/gce/it.