The Scenario Planning Working Group will seek to identify various scenarios under which the University may need to operate during the 2020-2021 academic year and develop models for addressing these scenarios such that Valpo continues to provide robust and meaningful teaching and learning regardless of the broader environment. These scenarios can include variations in term length; variations in face-to-face, hybrid, and remote/online instruction; variations in grading schemes; various starting and ending dates for the academic year; limited interaction in a face-to-face environment, etc. The working group will seek to conclude its work by the end of final exams for the Spring 2020 semester. The working group will make use of the best available data. The working group will share its findings and recommendations with President Heckler and the President's Council.
